

Below is a basic explanation of the Truth Search Tool interface. The following pages list some tips specific to navigating the search results.

1 is the list of available indexes. To see the publications associated with each index click the arrow to the left of the check box next to the index name.

2 is the Search pane. Type the word or words to search for in the text field and click the Search button. The search results (if any) will display below the word "Title". Each search during a session will remain on the down list enabling you to select the search again and return to those results.

3 is the display pane. When you first start the application the links for the Manual and the CT Russell HTML will display. When you click a link in the search pane the associated document will appear in the display pane.

You can return to the Manual and the CT Russell HTML links at any time by clicking the ? Icon in the Search pane tool bar.

Click this icon to toggle between the built in browser and the search display view with highlighting and navigation. Samples below.

promising that then he would make a Covenant with him. Abraham believed when he started from Haran and continued to believe after he had come into Canaan. In due time God made the Covenant as promised, assuring him that "in his Seed all the families of the earth would be blessed." The making of this Covenant implied a fellowship between God and Abraham on the basis of his faith-justification. But Abraham at that time was not justified to human perfection and life everlasting --but to fellowship merely. He needed to go on, to demonstrate that he had a strong faith. After many years of faith-testing Isaac was born. Abraham had thus an evidence of the Lord's favor and that the promise would be fulfilled. But still he was not justified to life and human perfection. Long years after Isaac's birth God put a final test upon Abraham's faith, saying, "Take now thy son, thine only son, Isaac, whom thou lovest, and get thee into the land of Moriah; and offer him there for a burnt-offering upon one of the mountains which I will tell thee of."--`Gen. 22:2`.

Not until Abraham had shown his absolute heart-loyalty could he be counted of God as worthy of a "better resurrection" than the remainder of mankind --resurrection to human perfection--actual justification, actual rightness or righteousness. Even when Abraham's tests were all passed satisfactorily he could not still be actually justified or made actually perfect; because he needed to be redeemed with the precious blood of Christ. As a member of Adam's family he was under a death sentence which must be annulled before he could be actually justified to the perfection of human life. Abraham had done his part to the Divine pleasement, but he must wait for his perfecting until the great Mediator, the Second Adam, Head and Body, would be complete and the New Covenant be sealed with Abraham and his natural seed, giving them earthly restitution and perfection at the hands of their
